CANDICE ALIHUSAIN

Candice Alihuain is a jurist of Dutch – Surinamese origin. Growing up she was exposed to different cultures due to her father being in the diplomatic service. She has lived in the US, India and Indonesia. She obtained a masters degree in Public International Law from Leiden University. During her studies, she developed an interest in human rights. She is currently working as a legal information specialist in the Peace Palace Library. She’s committed to promoting and bringing more awareness to issues relating to international law, peace & justice in order to further the cause of international understanding.

PETER VAN DEN DUNGEN

One of the world's leading experts on the history of peace, non-violence, and the Nobel Peace Prize, Dr. van Den Dungen was born in Holland and has taught for many years in the world's largest department of peace studies in Bradford, England.

He founded and heads the International Network of Museums for Peace (INMP) which has held conferences in the European Peace University in Stadtenschaining (Austria), Osaka and Kyoto (Japan), Diksmuide (Belgium) and Guernica (Spain) and other member countries.

INMP is a worldwide network of peace museums, peace gardens and other peace related sites, centres and institutions that share in the same desire to build a global culture of peace.
ANNEMARIE VAN HEERIKHUIZEN

Annemarie van Heerikhuizen is an historian working in the department of European Studies at the University of Amsterdam. She lectures on a number of topics, including the idea of European unity, the history of Dutch foreign relations, and European integration politics. She received her PhD at the University of Amsterdam on the topic of supranational thinking in the Dutch parliament (1948-1952). At the moment, she is doing research on European intellectual debates, with special attention to the peace debates around 1900 and the League of Nations debates in the Interbellum Period.

---

STEVEN VAN HOOGSTRATEN

After his studies in law at the University of Groningen, Mr. Steven van Hoogstraten took up a career with the government in various positions. At present Steven van Hoogstraten is the general Director of the Carnegie Foundation (Peace Palace).

Van Hoogstraten has always been a practitioner with a high interest in the political and international environment of his work. He worked for the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in a position in Brussels at the Netherlands Permanent Representation to the EU, was head of the European legal desk at the Ministry of Agriculture, was a director of Food Policy and Product Safety at the Ministry of Health, and a Deputy DG at the Ministry of Justice involved in international cooperation. In that last capacity Steven van Hoogstraten was charged inter alia with the justice aspects of Netherlands’ policy on narcotic drugs. Van Hoogstraten was a Vice chairman of the UN body for food law, the so called Codex Alimentarius, during his 10 year stay at the Ministry of Health. Since 2002 Steven van Hoogstraten is working in the Peace Palace, as host to the International Court of Justice and the Permanent Court of Arbitration. His mandate involves all the managerial aspects of the running and extending of a big national monument, and a centre stage involvement in the ambitions of The Hague as the legal capital of the World.
WILLEMIJN LAMBERT

Willemijn Lambert (the Netherlands), is trained as facilitator and conflict mediator. She graduated from the Department of Peace Studies, University of Bradford (UK) with an MA in Conflict Resolution. Currently she is working full-time with IofC Netherlands as programme coordinator for Creators of Peace. She facilitated workshops on trustbuilding, ethical leadership and helped to facilitate Creators of Peace Circles taking place in the UK, Germany and the Netherlands.

HOPE ELIZABETH MAY

Hope Elizabeth May is a philosopher and lawyer whose work combines the ethical and political philosophy of Aristotle with the Peace Through Law tradition of The Hague. Dr. May is passionate about the importance of public education to the "Peace Through Law" project, and to that end, creates innovative educational activities aimed at exposing the story and history of International Law to a broader audience than lawyers and the legal academy. Dr. May has been a Visiting Professional in the Office of the Prosecutor of the International Criminal Court. She is also a member of the Board of Directors of the International Criminal Court Student Network, is on the Council of Advisors of the Global Institute of the Prevention of Aggression and The International Criminal Court Moot Court Competition. In 2014, she was appointed to the Advisory Board for the Council of Korean Studies.
ANNE SYNNØVE SIMENSEN

Anne Synnøve Simensen holds a PhD from the Norwegian University of Science and Technology in Trondheim and the University of Wisconsin, Madison. She has worked as an actor and a freelance journalist and has written extensively about the particular situation of women in countries such as Zambia, Vietnam, USA and China. In 2012 she published The Woman Behind the Peace Prize: The story of Bertha von Suttner and Alfred Nobel.

---

INGRID ROLLEMA

Ingrid Rollema is a visual artist and international lawyer. With the Project Hope Foundation in Gaza, Ingrid recruits groups of artists each of whom contribute their own individual expertise in the fields of photography, dance, music and various kinds of visual art. By mutual agreement the group decided to focus attention on the arts while still asking psychologists to watch from the sidelines and intervene to give children individual counseling whenever necessary. She designed one of the two busts of Bertha von Suttner commissioned by the Carnegie Foundation and unveiled in 2013.
JAN TECHAU

Jan Teachau is director of Carnegie Europe, the European centre of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. Techau is a noted expert on EU integration and foreign policy, transatlantic affairs, and German foreign and security policy. Prior to his appointment, Techau served at the NATO Defense College’s Research Division from February 2010 until March 2011. He was director of the Alfred von Oppenheim Center for European Policy Studies at the German Council on Foreign Relations (DGAP) in Berlin between 2006 and 2010 and from 2001 to 2006 he served at the German Ministry of Defense’s Press and Information Department. Techau is an associate scholar at the Center for European Policy Analysis (CEPA) and an associate fellow at both the German Council on Foreign Relations and at the American Institute for Contemporary German Studies (AICGS). He is a regular contributor to German and international news media such as the BBC, Deutsche Welle, Bloomberg, Deutschlandradio, and Irish Times.

JEROEN VERVLIET

Jeroen Vervliet studied history and law at the University of Amsterdam and is currently Peace Palace Library Director. He is President-Elect of the International Association of Law Libraries and serves as President of the Netherlands Committee of the Blue Shield. He has written on Hugo Grotius and various twentieth-century topics.